CalDigit to Distribute Carbon Copy Cloner with all Storage Systems.

Placentia, CA - March 30, 2009. CalDigit is excited to announce that it will be bundling Carbon Copy Cloner with all of it's drive arrays, giving users the ability to backup and even clone, bootable OS X volumes. This bundle provides users with a complete solution, and an easy way to backup, move and archive data.

"Storage is an essential part of any computer system, and CalDigit has been able to provide that to it's users for the past several years. Many users want an easy way to backup their valuable data. While doing research into a reliable backup solution, we ran across a wonderful application from Bombich Software, called Carbon Copy Cloner. We felt it supplied both the support and experience that our users would really appreciate." Jon Schilling, Director of Business Development for CalDigit.

Carbon Copy Cloner has been a staple in the OS X community for years. It's reputation is unparalleled, and has provided OS X users an easy back up solution. In combination with storage arrays from CalDigit, users now have a complete and easy to use back up solution.

"CalDigit makes top-of-the-line storage solutions, so it was important that we found a back up solution that lived up to the CalDigit standard. We found that in Carbon Copy Cloner." Jared Picune, VP of sales and Marketing for CalDigit.

The CalDigit VR is the the most advanced two drive RAID system in it's class, supporting a quadruple interface for easy connectivity. The CalDigit VR's modular design provides two hot swappable drive modules and an easy to read front LCD. With support for RAID 0 and RAID 1 the CalDigit VR is a perfect backup and storage device. Using RAID 1 on the CalDigit VR in combination Carbon Copy Cloner, users have the ultimate data back up solution.
